ALLOTMENTS

The full Borough Council approved the recommendation from the Policy Committee regarding the use of the proposed allotment land for housing. The first battle lost but not the war. Martin Jiggens has been in touch with the Department of the Environment and the Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food (Land Division) and we hope that decisions will be taken out of the political area. The Regional Surveyor to the Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries has been asked to inspect and hear representations from interested parties.

BRENTHAM FILM

A joint Film Evening with other Conservation Areas, including Northolt, will be held at Ealing Town Hall on Friday December 12th, and is being organised by the London Borough of Ealing. Full details later.

BRENTHAM HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

The competition for the best kept front garden on the Estate has been won by Mrs. Goodchild, 50 Fowlers Walk, and the Silver Cup will be presented by the Chairman, Mr. Tom Bloxam at the A.G.M.

BRENTHAM LUNCHEON CLUB

The above club, which provides many pensioners in the area with lunch at a modest price, needs a voluntary secretary. The job entails keeping brief minutes of about four meetings of the management committee per year. Another volunteer has offered to do the typing. If you can spare a few hours a year for this valuable job, please phone Tony Oliver at 997-7522, or drop a line to him at 48 Denison Road.

"OLD BRENTHAM" POSTCARDS

These include photographs of the Duke of Connaught opening the Institute, an Open-air meeting of Ealing Tenants, Roadworks in Meadvale Road, and the Estate under construction.

The cards, price 2⁵p per a set of 5, will be available from the Central Library in November.

"EALING TENANTS LIMITED" Pioneers of Co-Partnership, by Margaret Timms, published in 1966. The Society has been able to obtain a limited supply of this book, and is on sale to Members at 60p from Martin Jiggens, 1 Winscombe Crescent.

I should like to become a member/renew my membership of the Brentham Society and enclose 30p membership
